CORN CROP HARD HIT

INTENSE HEAT AND HOT WINDS DO MUCH DAMAGE

BOTTOM CROPS DO WELL

Estimated That Crop In Nodaway County Will Be Cut One-half—Lands Are Drying Up

St. Louis, Aug. 8. — Reports from Missourians who have crossed the state in automobiles is to the effect that the corn crop has been badly injured by the intense heat of the past few days and is also standing badly in need of rain. Away from the river bottoms corn is suffering badly for rain and pastures are drying up. It will soon be necessary to feed stock because of the shortage of pasture unless copious rains intervene.

The river valleys, always the most productive when not inundated at critical periods, are standing the heat very well and the corn looks good, but in the higher lands there is another story to tell. This is a critical time for maturing corn. Unless the uplands receive frequent rains during August and the early part of September the crop is always short.

As a rule the grain is made when the corn is silking and it must have rain. Continued dry weather and hot weather means little or no corn. This period has been reached and the entire corn crop of the state on the higher lands is in great danger and from what grain dealers say it has already been injured badly.

The rich bottoms can stand a great deal of dry and hot weather and still make a fairly good yield.

All over the state the pasture lands are drying up and this is matter of no small concern. The heat has been intense and since Sunday has been accompanied by hot winds, particularly in western Missouri, where the temperature has been from 5 to 10 degrees above the eastern and southern part of the state.

The prairie sections have suffered most from the heat and lack of rain.

In Nodaway county upland corn, especially that which was planted late, is showing the effects of the heat and hot winds and some fields are as dry as if it were late fall. Late corn is in better condition and will make a fair crop. A field of 190 acres on the O. J. Wilhoyte farm five miles northwest of town, planted early in May, shows little effect of the hot winds and will easily make forty bushels to the acre. Other fields in the same neighborhood were visited, some of them showing up good and others badly dried.

Taken generally throughout the county, the damage done to the corn crop has been the most serious in recent years and the record yield that was in sight two weeks ago will be cut in half, it is estimated.

Owing to the dryness of pastures many farmers are shipping their surplus cattle and hogs to market, receipts at the leading markets for the past two weeks having been greatly in excess of normal receipts at this time of year.

CROWSON ENTERS SERVICE

Pickering Boy and Former News Editor Maryville Tribune Succeeds In Getting Into the Army

George M. Crowson, former news editor of the Maryville Tribune and later reporter on the St. Joseph News-Press, left today for Fort Riley, havin enlisted for service and being assigned to the medical division of the army.

Crowson had to overcome the disqualification of defective vision in order to enter military service. He was a member of the old Fourth regiment band of Maryville, when the regiment started to the Mexican border two years ago, but was rejected upon the federalization of the national guard because of his eyesight. During the last year, since the United States entered the war, he sought ineffectually to obtain a waiver which would allow him to enlist in the navy, and also was unsuccessful in attempting to get a commission from the Y. M. C. A. war work council for Red Triangle service. Meanwhile he was rejected by his local draft board. Crowson received an order for his induction into the medical department after a lenghty correspondence with the war department.

Crowson is twenty-two years old, and a son of Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Crowson of Pickering.

HAS BIG FLAX FIELDS

Charles Roney to Have Fine Harvest On Farm Near Oakes, In North Dakota

The following account of the flax fields of Charles H. Roney, a former Nodaway county farmer, is taken from the Oakes Times, of Oakes, N. Dak.:

Mr. Roney purchased the farm last spring and broke the sod for the first time on the land then.

"One of the nicest sights to be seen in the country now is the fine sea of flax on the old school section north of the city. At the school sale last spring C. H. Roney purchased half of this virgin section at $71 per acre, and J. M. Schmidt bought the other half at $79. It was thought to be a good price, but to see the crop on the land this year the price will not be high after all. Mr. Roney has in 270 acres that he thinks should go about 20 bushels to the acre and Mr. Schmidt has 100 acres that looks just as good. Not a weed is to be seen in the big field and the flax is now in the boll."

Mr. Roney is a brother of Mrs. J. Ed Costello of South Buchanan street. He lived on a farm near Quitman before going to Dakota.

SECOND DRIVE IS BEGUN

BRITISH-FRENCH FORCES LAUNCH GREAT OFEENSIVE ON PICARDY FRONT AT DAWN THIS MORNING SMASHING THE GERMANS BEFORE AMIENS—SEVERAL THOUSAND PRISONERS TAKEM

U. S. TROOPS IN IT

IDENTITY OF TROOPS ENGAGED IS WITHHELD PENDING THE PERSHING REPORT

TAKE HUNS BY SURPRISE

Anglo-French Forces Have Crossed the Avre and Are Advancing Toward the Luce Valley, Pushing the Enemy Northward

London, Aug. 8.—The Anglo-French forces on the Soissons end of the Picardy front have crossed the Avre river and are advancing toward the Luce valley. Tanks are being employed east of the Avre, doing terrible destruction. The great attack east and southeast of Amiens was preceded by terrific artillery bombardment, the Huns being taken completely by surprise in some positions under attack. The Germans began to destroy bridges over the Aisne and are withdrawing some heavy artillery northward.

The British Front, Aug. 8. — The British and French have advanced five kilometers in the new offensive started this morning, capturing several-thousand prisoners.

London, Aug. 8.—A great offensive was launched against the Germans on the Picardy front by the British and French troops today, the fourth British army and the first French army beginning their drive at dawn in front of Amiens. The war office announced that when Field Marshal Haig reported the launching of the new offensive was started attacks were progressing satisfactorily over a wide front.

This is the second big Allied drive of the year, the first one being opened by Franco-American forces on the Marne. The Americans are holding a part of the battle line southeast of Amiens and are believed to be taking part in the new offensive, although the presence of Americans in the fighting is not specially mentioned by the British and French war offices in their official communiques at noon.

Washington, Aug. 8. — American troops, brigaded with the British, are in action in the great new British offensive before Amiens, but until their identity is given out by General Pershing, however, officials here will not say what units are actually there today. The offensive is designed, army officers say, to remove a serious menace from the British front, the Germans having been concentrating their forces in great strength at Amiens, and it is believed here the purpose of the present drive is to shove them back and thus compel a general retirement along the whole northern front.

Washington, Aug. 8.—The Americans have crossed the Vesle and have reached the Soissons-Rheims highway, General Pershing reported this afternoon.

REVOLT AGAINST BOLSHEVIKI.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Members of the constituted assembly of the northern region are reported to have revolted against the Bolsheviki regime and set up a government of their own in the districts of Nemara, Vologda, Novgord, Viatkah and Kazan, according to a cablegram from Ambassador Francis to the state department this afternoon.

SUES RAILROAD FOR $50,000

Nathan H. Thorpe of Iowa Asks Damages of Great Western, Charging Negligence

Through his attorneys, Nathan H. Thorpe, a resident of Lucas county, Iowa, today filed suit in the circuit court against the Chicago Great Western railroad company, asking damages in the sum of $50,000 for injuries received. Thorpe states that he was walking along the track near Conception Junction on June 18, 1918, when without warning he was struck by a train and knocked from the track sustaining injuries which have made him a cripple for life. The petition points out that he was walking along what was by common usage a public highway and that the accident was due to the carelessness of the defendant company.

FOR A COUNTY FARM AGENT

P. B. Naylor of U. S. Agriculturti Department, Here to Help Farmers Perfect An Organization

P. B. Naylor, representing the U. S. department of agriculture and Columbia Agriculture College, is in the county for the purpose of helping the farmers organize to secure a county farm agent. Mr. Naylor will visit the different townships in the county and confer with committees of farmers, giving such information as is needed. An itinerary will be given later announcing the various places where he may be seen on certain days; meanwhile his headquarters will be at the Bainum hotel.

Following the removal to DeKalb county of District Agent J. M. Huston, who acted in the capacity of farm agent, Nodaway county is without an advisor. Over three-fourths of the counties in the state now have county farm agents whose business it is to aid and assist the farmers in such matters as increased production, marketing, shipping and other work that requires cooperation.

SPRATT PLEDGES HELP

In Letter Conceding Defeat Announces He Will Again Be a Candidate Two Years Hence

Congressman Charles F. Booher was re-nominated at the primary Tuesday by a plurality of nearly 200 votes. His opponent, William E. Spratt, conceded Booher's nomination late yesterday afternoon.

Spratt carried Buchanan county by a plurality of 1,218. Booher carried Nodaway, Andrew, Holt, Atchison and Platte counties. Booher's plurality in Platte will be about 50 votes, according to incomplete returns.

The counties are casting up their official votes today, but it is not expected to materiall affect the vote either way.

Mr. Spratt, in his statement conceding his defeat, states he will be a candidate two years from now if the state of war warrants. He says:

"I shall most heartily and wholesouledly support Mr. Booher in his work and keep right on bending every energy in the home work necessary to care for our boys at the front."

The rest of Mr. Spratt's statement is as follows:

"It would have been much more pleasing to me to have gotten the decision but, as it is, I do not feel that it is a defeat—just a deferred victory until after the war. There were so many friends who greatly regretted that they felt it a war duty at this time to vote against me. Bless their hearts. There is not a sore spot on me anywhere, nor is there any ill feeling against a living mortal who did not at this time see his way clear to help me. I am convinced that my failure was more on account of the war than any other one thing. There are so many folks with sons and relatives in the service who actually fear to make a change of any kind under these trying times.

"To my friends over the district who first conceived the thought that I ought to be sent to congress I have a heart full of love and appreciation. They have worked so earnestly, untiringly and so unselfishly that words fail in expressing my gratitude for their confidence and faith. These first friends were readily augmented by many other loyal willing supporters, to all of whom I feel an inexpressable debt of gratitude.

"In the heat of the campaign just closed possibly some things were said and done on the part of friends and contestants that should not have been, but there never was, I am sure, at any time, any bad motive or anything done that could not have been attributed to the over-zealousness of anxious friends. The campaign is over and I for one have wiped all bad thoughts out of my memory.

"Mr. Booher, during his long service in congress, has made a lot of friends that would go through fire for him. They have won my admiration and esteem. I would like to be that kind of friend, and hold those kind of friendships."

PHYSICALLY COMPETENT AND MORALLY FIT

Daniel A. Poling, associate president of the United States Society of Christian Endeavor, writes as an "eye witness at the front" in the current issue of the Outlook on questions of vital interest, as he says, to all Americans, and particularly those who have relatives in the expeditionary forces of the United States.

Mr. Poling went abroad to ascertain for himself the moral character of the American soldier fighting for democracy on foreign soil and to learn what the American authorities in France are doing to keep the soldier physically competent and morally fit. His report, in brief, is:

"The American soldier in France is a representative American. And he is living on a moral plane which IS ABOVE THE MORAL PLANE OF CIVILIAN LIFE AT HOME."

Mr. Poling was given exceptional opportunities to observe the men in the fighting zone. He studied every phase of the question, visiting and living with the soldiers in London, Paris, in the towns where they are billeted back of the lines and in the trenches.

"Our leaders in France," he said, "have not conquered the vices society has battled against from the first organized beginnings of civilization, but if the American Expeditionary Force is not setting an example in moral idealism to American civil life, then I have walked through France with my eyes closed and my ears stopped.

"I would be false to these men if, having the evidence of their soundness, I did not declare it; and I would be false to those who gave them as a priceless offering upon the altar of freedom.

"General Pershing and those who are in authority with him in France deserve, not a resolution of inquiry or censure, but a vote of confidence with the assurance of our cooperation and support.

"The American soldier is the worthy inheritor of the finest traditions of American arms, a credit to those who bore him, an honor to the nation he represents and the last and best hope that civilization shall not fail in her struggle to establish the might of right."

NO WASTE LAND IN FRANCE

Halley Ford Writes Interestingly of Both France and England

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ford, 611 North Buchanan street, are in receipt of the following letter from their son, Halley Ford, with the A. E. F. in France:

"Somewhere in France
July 18, 1918.

"Dear Papa and Mamma:

"It has been some time since I wrote last but I have been traveling around seeing the country and really couldn't find much time to write. We came across the pond in good shape. I can't say I exactly got seasick, but I have felt better than I did the first three days out. The ocean looked about as I expected it to, the waves were not quite as large, but we had good weather coming across. The most of the time it was cloudy and rained quite a bit, but we had no rough weather. The rural districts of England are very beautiful. They have plenty of rain and everything is green. Their rivers and streams are full of water and grass grows to the very edge of the water. They have no deep, wide and muddy ditches for a small amount of water. They have no waste land; it is all under cultivation or used for grazing. They have fine looking stock. Nearly all of their cattle are Airshire. The English cities I didn't like so well. So many of the buildings, residences and tenement houses, I suppose, all look the same. It gets monotonous looking at them. They haven't the bustle and hurry that our cities have. I probably didn't see the best part of the cities or I might judge them differently. Their streets are very narrow. I am not used to the customs and ways they have here, but it seems to me they are several years behind American in progressiveness. Their railroads are much smaller than ours, but most of their transportation is done by water. They have canal systems in England, too, but I don't know whether they are used very much or not. France resembles our country in some respects, more than England. Both England and France have very beautiful gardens. In some sections of France over half of the land is in vineyards. Their grape vines don't look like ours; they are much smaller The people keep them trimmed closer and they are staked instead of letting them grow to fences. They spray with Bordeaux mixture. There are a few peach trees grown here, but I have seen no apple orchards or other fruit.

"In England I got on very well talking to the people but I don't have much luck with the French. I would give most anything if I had taken my four years in French at school instead of German. I am going to get busy and study and by mingling with the people I think I can soon pick it up.

"If mamma is still in Spokane when you get this put it in another envelope and address it to her. I am going to write to Harlan in a few days and she can read that letter if she is still there. I bet she is having a good time. I haven't received any mail here yet, but I guess I will before long.

"I will write again soon.

"With love,
"HALLEY."

DON'T BE A SUGAR U-BOAT.

"The U-boats have lessened our sugar supply; don't be a U-boat," is one of the latest slogans. Sugar has become one of the most important features of the conservation program. Save by using less in your tea and coffee. Save it by using sugar substitutes, as syrup and honey. Save it by using sweet fruits.

The government is urging the use of an allowance of 12 ounces of sugar per person per week, or about 3½ tablespoons per day. This allowance is three times that of France or Italy.

The government has allowed the purchase of 25 pounds of sugar by the housewife for canning. But the housewife should not keep too closely to old customs. The twenty-five pounds will not go far if she used her grandmother's recipe of "pound for pound" of fruit and sugar. The sugar must be "stretched" by using substitutes in part or whole. The latest style is sugarless canning. Have you tried it?

PEACH CONSERVE.

Peaches 3 pounds; corn syrup 1½ cups; raisins, seeded, ½ cup; oranges, small, 2 (rind and juice); water ½ cup; dates, cut into pieces, 1 cup; walnuts ¼ pound.

Remove skins from peaches, stone and cut into pieces. Add syrup, raisins, finely chopped oranges, dates and water. Cook slowly for about one hour or until consistency of marmalade. Add nuts five minutes before removing from the fire.

The dates may be omitted.

John Harvey, Maryville, 100 Per Cent Efficient

The following interesting story of John Harvey, well known hog breeder, by E. L. Crockett, is taken from the current issue of the Missouri Farmer:

We hear a great deal these days about intensive farming, but outside of the professional gardener we seldom see an example of it. However, outside of the realm of the poultry breeders, we seldom hear of intensive stock raising. But there is such a thing and sooner or later the high price of farm lands will make intensified stock raising in this country a common every-day sight.

Maryville, Mo., located in Nodaway county, a county that is noted all over the United States for its many good pure bred herds of cattle and hogs, can boast of one herd right in her city limits that, as an example of "intensified" stock raising doubtless has no equal anywhere in the country .

This herd is owned by Mr. John Harvey, a man in the early seventies, but still young and active. He has been a breeder of Chester White and O. I. C. hogs for fifteen years and has made an enviable reputation among his fellow breeders for the high quality of his stock.

Mr. Harvey's little farm, or lot, as he calls it, consists of eighteen acres, all in the city limits of Maryville. The land is rolling, with plenty of shade, simply ideal for hog raising. He has a barn and quite a number of individual hog houses. A farrowing house with room for ten sows is his proudest possession in the way of improvements. This house is lighted with electricity, has water piped into it and can be heated if it becomes necessary. Nearby this farrowing house is a big crib with shade sheds attached which cover concrete feeding platforms. Water is piped to these sheds, too, as it is to his other feeding platforms, which he has scattered over the place. Every improvement has been made with the one idea in view, "to save time and labor." There are no back-breaking slop buckets to be carried three or four hundred feet on this farm—on the contrary, wherever he has his feeding platforms there will be found a feed bin, with a slop barrel nearby with the water waiting for some one to turn it into the mixing barrel. No false steps or lost motion on this place.

The farm is plotted as follows: Twelve acres in a blue grass wooded pasture, five acres in alfalfa, which, by the way, is very productive and furnishes lots of good "grower" feed, as Mr. Harvey calls it; one acre is in garden, lawn and dry lot. All told just eighteen acres.

In 1917 Mr. Harvey raised on this little farm over five thousand dollars worth of hogs and cleared over twenty-five hundred dollars. Not bad for a man over seventy years of age, is it? This was accomplished in spite of the fact that outside of his alfalfa he had to buy all his feed.

This year, from twenty sows he has saved one hundred and thirty pigs—all big thrifty fellows who show in every line their blue blood. This crop of pigs with ten fall gilts, twenty sows and three herd boars make a total of one hundred and sixty-three head of hogs on this place at this time; then add to this his fall crop of pigs which will soon be here, you readily see that this place will be stocked with hogs. However, Mr. Harvey says he has all the room he needs—and since he has spent fifteen years in the game we will not doubt his word. He attributes his success to the fact that he started with the best breeding and individuals that he could afford and never lost sight of the fact that "a superior porker" comes only from "superior breeding stock," and with this in view he has always been able to place his stock among his farmer and breeder friends at a fair profit over and above their market value.

If there is another breeder in the state who is producing more than Mr. Harvey is off his eighteen acres of ground we have not seen the said man or his plant. We call this little hog farm of Mr. John Harvey's of Maryville, Mo., One Hundred Per Cent Efficient.

Young ladies who wish to prepare themselves for positions in banks and other business offices or for the Civil Service examinations will be interested in the circulars now being sent out by the well known Grand Island Business College, of Grand Island, Nebaska. It is one of the largest commercial schools in the West and positively guarantees positions to its graduates. As a patriotic duty on account of the shortage of office help, the school has decided to extend a splendid offer to a limited number who will enter at this time. 1-T

Can Without Sugar.

The conservation division of the food administration is urging housewives to can fruits without sugar now and to add the sugar this winter when it is more plentiful.

Dry some of your fruit instead of canning it.

Try pulping fruits according to the English method. Place fruit over a gentle heat until enough moisture comes out to prevent burning, then increase the heat until the fruit boils. Boil an hour, stirring constantly, and can in sterilized jars. With some dry fruits, such as apples, a little water will have to be added to prevent burning.

Pulped fruit can be used for jam, stewed fruit, puddings and pies. Since we must be especially careful of sugar it is well to make up the pulp into jam, one jar at a time. The English housewife allows half a pint of sugar to a pint of pulp, which she says "is quite sweet enough and almost a luxury in these days."

Can fruits without sugar.

Omit sweet pickles and watermelon rind pickles this year.

Store instead of canning whatever fruits, such as apples, will keep.

Despondent Women.

Nature intended every woman to be cheerful, light-hearted and happy, but when dragged down with pain and suffering from female ills, will power alone cannot overcome a nervous, despondent condition. Multitudes of American women, however, have found that there is one tried and true remedy to restore health under such circumstances, and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from herbs and roots. This old fashioned medicine is now considered the standard American remedy for such conditions. Adv.

OLD AGE A CRIME!

Some people are young at 60—red cheeked, ruddy and vigorous. Others are old at 40—joints beginning to stiffen up a bit; step beginning to lag and lose its springiness; occasional touches of pain in the back; feel tired without cause, and possibly a twinge of rheumatic pain.

In most cases these are the danger signals to warn you that the kidneys are not promptly doing their work of throwing off the poisons that are always forming in the body. To neglect these natural warnings is a crime against yourself. If you have these symptoms you can find prompt relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. For more than 200 years this has been the recognized remedy for kidney and bladder ailments.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are imported direct from the laborstories at Haarlem, Holland. Get them at your druggsts. Do not take a substitue. In boxes, three sizes.

Mother's Friend in Every Home

Comfort and Safety Assured Before the Arrival of the Stork.

In thousands of American homes there is a bottle of the splendid and time-honored remedy, Mother's Friend, that has aided many a woman through the trying ordeal, saved her from suffering and pain, kept her in health of mind and body in advance of baby's coming, and had a most wonderful influence in developing a healthy, lovely disposition in the child.

Mother's Friend relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliable those fibers and muscles which nature is expanding, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands and other soreness. The tendency to nervousness and to morning sickness or nausea is counteracted.

By regular use during the period the muscles expand with ease when baby is born, tension is reduced and the pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less.

Mother's Friend is an external remedy, is absolutely safe and wonderfully effective. It not only allays distress in advance but assures a speedy recovery for the mother.

This splendid preparation may be had at every drug store, and is one of the greatest blessings ever discovered for expectant mothers. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their "Motherhood Book," so valuable to expectant mothers, and in the meantime do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort.

That "Many a Mickle Makes a Muckle" Is Especially True of Thrift Stamp Collecting.

I had a little Thrift Card to save and beat the Hun,
I bought a quarter Thrift Stamp and then there was One.

One little Thrift Stamp — what would a quarter do?
I got a cheaper lunch that day, and then there were Two.

Two little Thrift Stamps — 'twas not enough for me;
I cut out cigarettes a while, and soon there were Three.

Three little Thrift Stamps—I wanted many more;
I didn't have my suit pressed, and then there were Four.

Four little Thrift Stamps—such fun it was to strive;
I didn't buy a magazine, and then there were Five.

Five little Thrift Stamps—had taught me thrifty tricks
So I walked instead of riding, and soon there were Six.

Six little Thrift Stamps—the economic leaven
Made me write instead of telephoning; then there were Seven.

Seven little Thrift Stamps—I couldn't bear to wait,
So I searched in all my pockets, and then there were Eight!

Eight little Thrift Stamps—with 16 cents beside
I bought a big War-Saving Stamp, and pasted it with pride
Upon my big Certificate, and in a month or so
There'll be another there to keep it company, I know!
And when I've got my twenty there, a hundred dollar crew,
I will have learned Economy—and helped my Country, too!

MOLINE UNIVERSAL TRACTOR

It Solves The Farm Help Problem

A One Man Tractor

A Moline Universal Tractor will cut in two the cost of production over your present methods of farming, because of the elimination of from six to nine head of horses and at least one or more men.

Besides being able to do your draft work all your belt work may be done up to and including threshing and filling your silos. I am sure there could be no one more surprised in what this wonderful little farm giant is able to do than myself, and we shall be glad to show you because we are just as much Missourians as you are. This same old story has been going its rounds for years and in many cases will not bear investigation. We are giving you this hunch, so roll it over in your think box and come to us for any thing we can do for you. Our Superior Grain Drills are here in sizes to suit you and with or without grass seeder attachments. There are none better and few as good as a SUPERIOR.

The wheat crop has been the paying crop and will continue for some years to come, so buy a Moline Universal Tractor, do your plowing in season, put in the acreage and reap a harvest that actually pays. Do it now, don't wait and regret, for opportunity is knocking today.
